Daedalic Lonelyhearts

To all you lonelyhearts:

Hello, and welcome to Daedalic Lonelyhearts, the only slab for young, single sculptures. This month we are including more of your dream Korai and Kouroi, for you to contact, and should anything happen, let us know!

In the meanwhile – on to your DREAM DATE!

Firstly – the Korai . . .

Our first lonelyheart this month is the Auxerre Goddess (see her picture to the left!). From 640 B.C., this shapely 27-3-96 is into tennis, swimming and enjoys listening to the latest works of Homer.

"I am into the latest styles: my hair has just been geometrically restyled, and I am having a new dress carved. I am looking for a sporty guy who enjoys discussing things. I don't want anyone static. I'm only 2,632 years old, and I want some fun in life." BOX 31.

At a stunning 42-32-38, the Acropolis Kore 682, as she wishes to be known, is our next stunner. Only 2.517, this gorgeous Grecian Goddess, with her expressive eyes, her feminine form and her slight smile must inspire Eros to draw his bow and strike at the heart of Kouroi out there! Hobbies include dressmaking, rugby and the Eleusinian mysteries. She says:

"I think that Kouroi are attracted to women with immaculate hair. I take time over creating my new styles, using geometry and symmetry. When a Kore meets a new Kouros, the stunning hair can create a lasting impression." BOX 33.

Enter the Kouroi

Now comes the turn of our Kouroi. We've quite a selection for you lucky Korai, so happy hunting!

Our first lucky Kouros is Cleobis. Only 2,792 years old, this is a Kouros very much into looking after his body. He takes great pride in retaining a symmetrical look, which is reflected right down to his hairstyle. He says:

"I enjoy pulling ox carts with my brother Biton, to build up my thighs. I have worked hard on my chest muscles too, and think that my ribcage, kneecaps, and collarbone have a Classical, stylish look to them." BOX 21.

A Kouros with a great deal on his plate is the Apollo of Tenea. This six footer, with a cheeky smile and friendly eyes, has had many Korai on his plinth before. A well shaped Kouros, with a bold hairstyle, he is into pottery, Ionic columns, Homer, and is a keen amateur dramatist. He says:

"My ideal Kore would have to have a lot of life. I don't want someone who is going to stand on a plinth all day. I want a Kore who will join in with me, and perhaps introduce me to new things." BOX 23.

Kouroi! Have you seen the Kore of your dreams? Don't stand there forever, do something! Korai! Don't wait too long, otherwise your dream Kouros may have some other Kore's carvings on him!

So, you've seen your dream Kouros or Kore. Don't know how to reach them? It's simple. Pick up your marble and chisel and chip to the one you love. Follow these easy steps:

I Chip the slab to your dream Kouros and Kore.
11 Chip their name on the reverse side.
III Chip the Box Number underneath.
IV Chip our address under that.
V Give it to the Slab man!

This introduction service is run by Eilis Kerr of Reigate College in the intervals of studying A-level classical civilisation.